

Remove me from the digital contact register

Ref: 14/00634

If you want to be removed from the digital contact register, please complete and submit this form to the Agency for Public Management and eGovernment.

You will get a confirmation that you have been removed from the digital contact register to the address you specify in this form.

When you are removed from the digital contact register, decisions and other important letters from the public sector and local authorities will be sent to you on paper. Once your mobile number and email address is deleted from the digital contact register, you will not receive any type of information or service messages from the public sector by SMS or email.

NOTE: When removed from the contact register you can't use MinID to login to public services online. You can however still log in to public services with BankID, Buypass and Commfides. If you later log in with f.ex BankID and register a mobilephone number and e-mail, you will be registered electronically in the contact register again. If you do not want to be in the register, you have to log in without register your contact details.
